

STRUCTURAL AND REINFORCING

As a company Adwest Group has many capabilities. In particular the company is highly competent in the areas of Structural Steelwork and Reinforcing Mesh and Bar products.

As a means of reducing construction site cost and lengthy lead times Adwest has the ability to cut, form and weld reinforcing mesh and bar in large quantities.

The company also has the ability to process and weld structural steel to customer supplied drawings. Welding is a combination of MIG and Flux cored welding by qualified personnel against approved welding procedures.

All work is carried out to strict quality standards against supplied drawings.

All material can be traced back to certification from product manufacturer.

Adwest Group can organise non destructive examination and testing of structural steel work.

Adwest Group can organise galvanising and surface treatment of finished steelwork.

Where required, full Manufacturers Data Reports can be produced to customer specifications against individual work packages or site areas. Information included in these reports includes Quality Plans, Scope of Work, Welding Procedures and Qualifications, Material Certificates and Traceability, Non Destructive Testing Reports, Delivery Dockets.
